COMMUNITY ART - STRATFORD PUBLIC LIBRARY

Stratford, Ontario – The Stratford Public Library is now showcasing community art!

The Stratford Quilt Club kicked off the opening of the Community Art exhibits in early January. Twenty two beautifully handcrafted quilts of all shapes and sizes currently cover the walls of the main floor. This exhibition is the first in a monthly series focusing on bringing community art into the Library.

The Library is currently seeking local artists to share their work. "We hope to highlight painters, textile artists, photographers -- really anyone who practices an artistic medium that they'd like to share with their community, within their library. With an average of 500 people through the doors daily, this is a great place to exhibit your artwork where it will be seen by a wide range of community members," said Melanie Kindrachuk, Public Service Librarian/Community Art Coordinator.

If you are interested in showcasing your art, please visit stratford.library.on.ca/CommunityArt for the full guidelines and application.
